

CORBYS CHOIR HOPING TO MAKE IT A RECORD YEAR

Corby Male Voice Choir is once again in fine voice and ready to embark on its 2018 concert programme as it puts the final preparations in place for its first concert of the year, which takes place on Friday 20th April at St Denys' Church, Sleaford (7.30pm).

Organised by the Sleaford and District Lions Club, the concert will raise money for Children with Cancer and the Sleaford Arthritis Care Group and is the first of many charitable concerts Corby Male Voice Choir is set to perform throughout the year.

Under the baton of newly appointed Director of Music, Mrs Jan Williams, the choir has been hard at work learning new repertoire in preparation for its busy concert schedule, in what it hopes will be a record breaking fund raising year.

Jan said, "The choir has been working really hard since January on a wide range of exciting repertoire, including some firm favourites. It is now looking forward to performing the first concert of the year. I am also pleased to announce that our concerts will have a slightly different format compared to previous years, which we hope will be well received by our audiences and offer something for everyone".

She went on to say, "Since the Corby Male Voice Choir was first founded in 1976, it has raised in excess of £300,000 for local charities and good causes, singing at some 560 concerts and with ten concerts already confirmed, hope that 2018 will be the most successful fund raising year yet. We are also always happy to welcome new members to our choir, no matter the level of musical experience".
